The Foreign News. The telegraph brings us a sketch of the Anglo Saxon's news. It is four days later than the advices by the Europa. The most important feature of the news is the announcement of an advance in English breadstuffs had improved 1s. per bbl, and corn 6da1s. per quarter. Political feeling appears to be comparatively quiet on the continent, but it may be only the deceptive calm which usually precedes a storm, that we see. The Great Eastern has sailed from Portland to Hollyhead; we infer from the statements of the respects satisfactory. It is rumored that she will remain at Southampton during the winter for alterations in her boilers, and that the proposed trip to America will be postponed until next season.

The Grain Trade. The wheat market was greatly excited yesterday in consequence of the news of an important advance in English markets, and the price of our standard grade, No. 1 spring high as $1,00; the first time that this figure has been reached in our market since the excitement that followed the breaking out of the late European war. Receipts were large, amounting to some eighty-three thousand bushels, including flour. The foreign news had an equally stimulating effect on the New York market, flour advancing there 15,25c, and wheat 3a4c; but closing dull and nnsettled.

The Discussion at Wankesha. A correspondent gives us an animated account of the discussion at Wankesha, last week, between Governor RANDALL and Mr. HOBART. It resulted to the entire satisfaction of the Republicans. In the evening, ex-U. S. Senator Isaac P. WALKER, one of the most prominent and influential Democrats in the State, electrified the political circles of Waukesha, by a very strong speech against Mr. HOBART. The ex-Senator, like other leading men of his party in this State, "protests" against the language, sentiments and course of Harrison C. Hobart. The Pro-PLR will file their "protest" on the 8th of November.

While the passengers of the disabled steamer Quaker City, were being handed up the side of the bark Dumbarton, a heavy sea was running, and it was with the utmost difficulty that the ladies could be gotten on board.

This was finally effected, and then an innocent little nursling, whose mother had entrusted it to the rough hands of the honest tars, was handed up. The little thing was too light and tender for their hard palms, and they sung out from the boat to those above to they sing out from the boat to those above to oatch the "little one," and the next moment a score of arms were outstretched, as it was lifted crowing and kicking toward the gunwale. The "Irrepressible Conflict"-Opinions of the Fathers.

t-r, New York, during the fall campaign of for 1858. The Northern Doughface journals and the organs of the Southern Disunionists and Slavery propagandists, have vied with each other in their efforts to pervert the meaning and distort the language of that memorable address. The recent outbreak of a lives the candidates.-- When handful of crazy fanatics at Harper's Ferry, has been selzed upon, by these congenial yoke-fellows, as a pretext for reviving their pastizan outcries against Senator Seward, and few of them, in the intemperance of their zeal, hesitate to charge upon Mr. SEWARD and his "teachings," the responsibility for the whole affair. They might, with precisely the same truth and reason, seek to fasten the blame upon George Washington and THOMAS JEFFERSON, for both these fathers and founders of the Republic, held and expressed the same sentiments as to the "irrepressible conflict: between Freedom and Slavery, that Gov. Shward maintained in his Rochester speech. Let us quote the language of all three that our readers may see and judge for themselves: Got. Seigurd of Rochester.

Got. Secure at Rochester.

Thus these antagonistic systems are continually complete the contact, and collision results. Shall tell you that this collision means: They who think it is seedleastly innecessary, the York of interested or landical agits. ors, and they fore epheneral, mistake the case altogather. It is an irrepressible conflict between expecting an inner force; and it means that the little of the contact of the Thomas Jefferson in his "Notes on Virginia." Thomas Jegerson, in his "Moles on Virginia," "Nolling is more cardinally arrithed in the book of fole, than hart disse exame and to be than nor is hieras certain that the two races, equally free, cannot like in the some government. Nature, baba and ophien have drawn indelibed lines of distinction between them. It is sill in our power to direct the process of canacipation and deportation peoceably, and in such slow degree as that the evil will wear off insensibly, and their place be part plassa, filled up with free third laterers. It, on the contrary, it is left to force itself on, human nature might shudder at the prospects held up.

George Washington to Gon. Laguagette. George Missimpton to Gen. Languette.

"I agree with you constituty in your views in regard to negro slavery. I have long considered it a most sprious evil, both socially and politicity, and I should rejoice to any feasible scheme to it our States of such a burden. The Congress of 11st adopted an ordinance, which profities the existence of Involuntary servitude in our Northwestern territory forever. I consider it attended as the most with the extrapolation of the states were greatly except member from the States more immediately interested in duced above. The presailing opinion in Virginia is against the spread of states in our new Territories, AND I TRUST WE SHALL HAVE A CONFIDERACY OF FREE STATES."

Here is the testimony of GEORGE WASH-INGTON, the Father of his Country, and of THOMAS JUFFERSON, the founder of the Demtween Free and SLAVE LABOR. They looked forward hopefully, as he does, to the emancipation of the Slaves, and the establishment of a confederacy of FREE STATES. And they, means; not by bloodshed and insurrection, but by wise and timely legislation; and "through the action of the several States, cooperating with the Federal Government, and man's outbreak at Harper's Ferry, George WASHINGTON, THOMAS JEFFERSON, every signer of the Declaration of Independence, every trainer of the Constitution of the United to the present time, who has uttered one aspiration for FREEDOM, or borne testimony against the evils and enormities of Slavery, is equally "particeps criminis;" for one and all foresaw and forefold the "irrepressible conflict." and hoped, with the immortal WASHINGTON, to see it result in a "CON-FEDERACY OF FREE STATES."

The U. S. Court and the Collection of Debts. An example in the history of a mithful Gozennor,—We do not consider it the mark of a stateman or parrior, o enter upon a crossele against the payment of debts. We delink that there is already a sufficient olderigate of collection on the part of almost every one, without this moral hastly being encouraged by the Govcross of the state. One of the chief points of Goverror Randal, in his various speeches is, that non-resitions can collect debts in the U. S. Court. But we would ask Gov. Randal, is not that right gearsafted by the Constitution of the United States. Shail we reputiate the Constitution of our fathers?— If seventh of Statinday.

The Wisconsin wholly misunderstands, or grossly misrepresents, the views of Gov. RANDALL. He has preached no "crusade against the payment of debts, and has not complained that "non-residents" could enforce their collections in the U.S. Court .-The very same paper which makes this unfounded charge against Gov. RANDALL thus reports his remarks at Albany Hali:

It is not arrang for the Marshal to close the merchant's doors, and collect honest debts; but it is arrang that a Chicago or Eastern preditor should have more power here than a hone creditor. There should be no greater facilities in any Court, against the business men of the city, than the latter have against creditors in the country. It is owing to the organization of the Court. I do not impugn the motives or character of aty man. There is no appeal from this Court in any case under $\frac{2}{2}\times 000. It is as final as the edict of the Court of Ruesia.

These are the "points" that Gov. Rax-DALL made and which the Wisconsin entirely misrepresents. The Governor objects to the oppressinve ature of the practice and jurisdiction in Judge MILLER's Court, and to the discrimination made in favor of foreign, at the expense of home creditors. The Wiscon. sin insists that this is all right. The Governor helds that it is all wrong. We believe it to be the general sense of the Bar and busiby THE PEOPLE. A Huge Majority.—The county of Lancaster, Pa.—the President's home—cast 11,-035 votes, and gave an anti-Buchanan ma-

> WARM WEATHER IN ENGLAND.—The London papers note the great heat of the waather and the universal prevalence of the Aurora Borealis. On the 4th of October the thermometer rose to 77 1-2 degrees in the shade and 93 in the sun. On the 3d it stood 73 in the shade. Modern Democracy.—The Democracy beneabouts have generally agreed that slave-ry is a Christian Institution and that all are infidels who do not so believe. As they have their own mode of interpreting the Bible so they have their own method of interpreting the Delaration of Independence. The Hon. M. M. Strong in his speech on Wednesday evening last, explained his theory as follows:
"The Declaration of Independence was made by white men for white men, and that made by white men for white men, and that the phrase that all men are created equal, means that all white men are created equal, means that all white men are created equal. Black men and red men have no rights except such as white men choose to give them."

If the Democratic party is not the pro-slavery party, why this necessity of defending the system by torturing the Bible and the Declaration of Independence. If that hody is as "much opposed to slavery as anyhody," its supporters have a strange way of showing it. To defend slavery in virtue of its necessity, may allow of some excuse; but to do it by a repudiation of the vital principle upon which our struggles for liberty were based, is unpardonable; and is a dangerons step towards that despotism from which we escaped. The remark of John Randolph of Virginia, himself a slaveholder, in Cougress, is the most appropriate condemnation of such a course, and is as follows:

"Sir, I envy neither the heart nor the head of that man from the North, who rises here to defend Slavery on principle."—Minegal

From the Courier. From the Courier,

The happy couple reached this town early yesterday morning, and last night made their vesteroay morning, and last fight made their appearance at the opera. Young Boston soon found this out; it could not help it; for the Bon did his best to make himself visible.—
The pair were pretty well peered at during the evening, and they seemed to like it. When the play was over, the crowd followed the couple clear into the street, and those brave fellows who stand in front of our churches Sundays lined the passage-way to see the sight. We couldn't understand it, and asked a friend why we were jostical so. He could scarcely breathe so excited was he. At length he mutt-red "there they go"—" the jewels"
—"New York"—"great wedding"—"Culai"
"five millions"—" metropolitan wedding "—
—and by this time we reached the sidewark, and obtained a passing glimpse at the mysterious little man. He seemed unconscious, and yet he must have known he was the observed of all observers. His wife, a plain served of all observers. His wife, a plain sort of person, hung carelessly on his arm. We don't know how they got home. The throng was increasing every moment; but as the police were at hand, it is likely that the strangers were helped to a carriage. The commotion which they excited was a strange one. It was vulgar: it knocked the poetry out of "bridal tours:" it was ungentlemanly and your Vorlief. and New Yorkish. From the Err.

How that Mother's lip would kiss him,
Till her heart should nearly break!
How in they sto come she'll miss him!
Let me kirs him for her sake!

Let me kiss him for his Mother!
Let me kiss the wandering boy!
It may be there is no other
Left behind to give her jey.
When the news of wee the morrow
Burns her boson like a coal,
May she feel this kiss of sorrow
Fall like balm upon her soul.

Let me kiss him for his mother!
Heroes ye, who by his side
Waited on him as a brother,
Till the Northern stranger died—Heeding not the foul infection
Breathing in the lever breath—
Let me, of my own election,
Give the Mother's kiss in death!

"Go out atone, my pet, and take the air, if you will: by going with you I should lose a good point, as critics say, and that I cannot afford at present. Do not urge me," he added more decidedly, seeing me about to open my lips; "pray, leave me for some hours undisturbed, and he resumed his pen.

"The old story," I muttered indiguantly, and throwing myself in a chair by the window, I leaned my lead on the sill, and wept long and passionately. The idol of an affectionate family circle, I had married Walter Haynes without the approval of my friends, and yet with their tardy consent. Not that his standing, or principles, or habits were called in question—every one admitted that he was sligible as for my these work and my either add that far as these went, and my sisters added that he was "handsome enough, too;" but he was an author—a penuy-a-liner, as they sneering-ly called him—and this was enough to con-demn him in the opinion of such matter-ofdemn him in the opinion of such matter-offact people. > The first two months of our marriage were The first two months of our marriage were spent in travel. We visited every place of interest which I had expressed a wish to see; we looked upon every object of natural curiosity; and every object of art worthy of our attention, and never had Waiter, as a lover, been more kindly, attentive, or agreeable.— The memory of those days, even now, unfit me for the self-sacrificing, uncomplaining life which I have promised myself to live; is it a wonder that I was quite a spoilt child then, when not a wish remained ungranted, or a desire unfulfilled?

or a desire unfulfilled?

A house had been rented in the suburbs, where we could enjoy at once city and country privileges. Everything which could render home pleasant to the eye had been furnished, and all with the most affectionate nished, and all with the most affectionate care for my most simple preferences. There was a spacious garden filed with trees and shrubs, and transplanted with rare and costly plants by Walter's orders, that my passion for flowers might be indulged, he said. As summer-house of curious workmanship had been built, on which the roses and vines were already clambering, while within an elegantly carved table was placed, where our friends were to be entertained sultry mornings and moonlight evenings with strawberries, creams, and the choice fruits of the season. Graceful little statues gave a charming effect to the beautiful flowers, the green borders, the neat shell walks and the dark foliage of the noble shade trees. There was ing effect to the beautin howers, the green borders, the neat shell walks and the dark foliage of the noble shade trees. There was a small conservatory, where rare exotics bloomed; and a bay window which overlooked the harbor; with its thousands of white saits—its floating palaces of the Old and New World, dotting here and there the blue expanse of water. The house itself was quite in keeping with the grounds, with its white columns half hid by the clustering vines, its beautiful piazzas, its broad halls, and light, cheerful-looking rooms, in which the sun shone in lovingly all day long. Choice paintings adorned the walls of the parlors; not those whose chief merits lie in being unsuccessful copies of the old masters, or in having been brought across the ocean with great trouble and expense, but light and beautiful designs, executed by deserving young artists of our own country, such as, in the various picture galleries we had visited, I had looked upon with earnest admiration. These were invariably pur-us on our return—and even my sisters con-descended to admit that it would do very well for a beginning.

Walter had told me before introducing 124 to our new home, that when once settled there he must return to his task, his "labor of love," he said, with a smile and a sigh: that for some months he should be very that for some months he should be very busy; and I in my great trustfulness of self, had promised to be very patient, very cheerful, with the little time and attention be could bestow. Oh, how often did I resolve that my whole life should be devoted to the happiness of him who had shown such great care for mine! How many times I promised myself that his "little Dora," as he playfully called me, because my ignorance of practical life reminded him of David Copperfield's inimitable baby-wife, should never clog his footsteps in the path to wealth or fame; never doubt his truth or affection, and never disturb his hours of study or repose by idle disturb his hours of study or repose by idle

A BLOODLESS VICTORY !!! 1,000,000 BOXES SOLD OF MOREHEAD'S MAGNETICPLASTER THIS ENORMOUS QUANTITY OF

THIS ENORMOUS QUANTITY OF this Invaluable Remedy has been purchased by citizens of the United States during the short time it has been before the public. The reason for this extraordinery success is simply in the actual truth and value of the article. No one buys the MAGNETIC PLASTER without becoming its friend. It per form all that is promited, and carries with it its own recommendation. Iruly this is a Victory—peaceful and bloodless—but we believe not less giorious than the triumphs of war, with its train of carnege and desolation.

The MAGNETIC PLASTER is undoubtedly the Greatest Strengthener and Pain Destroyer that Science has yet discovered. If you put this Plaster anywhere, if Pain is there, the Plaster mill stick there until the Pain has vanished. The Plastermagnation PAIN CANNOT EXIST WHERE THIS PLASTER IS APPLIED.

Kheumatism, Lameners, Stiffness, Werkness, Debil.

Rheumatism, Luneses, diffuess, Werkness, Debil. ity, Norvousness, Nouraigns, Dyspersis, Coughs and Colds, Pains and Aches of overy kind, are IMMEDI. ATEMY RELIEVED, and, with a little patience, PER-MANENTLY CURED, by the magical influence of th MAGNETIC PLASTER. It is the simplest, surest, safest, pleasantest and cheapest remedy in existence. Its application is unversal—equally to the strong man, the delicate woman, and the feeble infant. Its use is agreeable, and without auroyene or trou-le. Its price is within reach of all—rich expose; all may have it, and all should have it who are sick, and suffering in any way.

FARMERS and PLANTERS should always be supplied with the WAGNETIU PLASTER. It will be the Good Physican in any household, ready at all times and at lastant notice.

and at Instant notice.

COMMERCIAL. MONDAY, Detober 24th. Money Matters.

Nothing new to note in the money market to-day.

The banks are as sparing as usual of their fonds, which may be expected while the present heavy movement of produce continues. Exchange is firm at 1½ per cent.' but the banks are fully able to meet the demand. EXCHANGE AT CHICAGO is becoming quite scarce, and nules the demand falls off or produce paper matures largely, the Press & Tribuns thinks it will be likely to go up a fraction. Some of the banks are selling at 1%, but the larger houses are supplying their customers at reney:

There seems to be enough to move the crops smooth-ly. Scarcely any other paper is taken by the banks.—
Discounts as usual 10 per cent. Readers will observe at once why produce paper has the preference. Thirty day bills, payable in New York, are discounted at 10 per cent. Exchange is 1½ prendum. This market makes the proceeds of the produce bills good for an interest of from 25 to 30 per cent per year. Fastern Dankers would consider that a handsome profit.

Money generally is very clase and collections "Lack." Street brokerage is about "dried up," and we quote rates nominal to 12/2 per cent per month. New York Money Market of To-day,-We have the following report of the doings in the New York Money and Stock Market of to-day, by telegraph:

CINCINNATI, OCT. 21sr.-Receipts: 1,762 bbls flour. The Gasette of Saturday says:

There was a fair but not active demand for flour to-day. Holders were stiff, and the tone of the trade, generally, was strong. Superfine ranged from $4.00, 0.34.90. Whickey declined to 282.6, and closed with more sellers than buyers at that figure. Provisions were quite dail, and the only sales were 30 hides. Bu-ern sides at 9 ifc, and 200 bils. No I lard at 19.4.— Dators shoulders are held at 8c, and mess port at $1.5. State and molasses duil, but prices are unchanged. For wheat there was a brisk demand, and prices advanced 2005 for bushel; prime qualities brough $1.10 for red, and $1.20 for white. New corn sold as low as 40c. Oats steady at 40c. Tereste, Oct. 22xx-The Globe of Saturday evening

We have to notice a still further advance in the price of wheat, with a very animated and buoyant market. Yesterday the supply was not large amounting to about 6000 bus, the average sample of which was good. The prices pull for prime and extra prime were from $1.15 to as high as $1.26, the latter in one lantance only but $2.00 to shigh as $1.26, the latter in one lantance only but $2.00 to shigh as $1.26, the latter in one lantance only but $2.00 to shigh as $1.26, the latter in one lantance only but $2.00 for ordinary and comuon.
